News Around Town

By Mrs. Calvin Robinson

I liked this one:

A certain little red corpustle was flswimmi ng,dups 123456 mb mb mb swimming in the vein of a horse when it suddenly came to a fork in the stream. It paused momentarily, then took the stream to the right. This soon came to an abrupt end. So the corpuscle turned about and upon arrival at the fork, proceeded in the stream to the left. Suddenly a huge virus appeared and promptly swallowed the little red corpustle. The moral of this story is: never change streams in the middle of a horse. —(W. H. Wiese).

"How did you happen to hit the pedestrian?" the policeman asked.

"I didn't hit him," complained the motorist. "I come to the stop sign. I stop. motion him to go across the street. And he faints."

How nice can folks get!! Recently I wrote in this column that we had ordered tulip bulbs and did not know how to go about setting them. So far, we have received four replies, with all the required information! One reply was in the form of a book, with all the data. Another had the details all typed out. Gee, it appears that it is going to call for lots of work, and it will be interesting to see what happens with our first try with tulips. Our bulbs will be coming in sometime this fall from Holland.

Another thoughful friend: Mrs. Virginia Christian Koon, en route to her home in Oregon after recently visiting here, mailed us a copy of an historical edition of a weekly paper from one of the famed old frontier towns of the West. I have enjoyed reading it: cover to cover. Thanks, Virginia!

Thanks to Mr. Twyman Coleman for meal tickets to the annual Southern States membership meeting tomorrow night. From all we hear, a record crowd will attend.

We hear that just lots of people are planning to go to Hollywood Baptist Church this Sunday for the big home-coming program and dedication of church improvements. The Rev. D. L. Bailey is pastor.

C. Lewis McDearmon is advertising a special sale on tires. See his ad on Page Ten.

The H. A. Gurneys are back after a pleasant vacation in New England.

The school of instruction for the Eastern Star Chapter, which had been scheduled for Monday night, August 30, has been postponed, due to illness in the family of Mrs. West, who is instructor. A date will be announced.

CURE FOR A NEW DISEASE

There's a new disease on the loose today. It claimed some 670,000 victims last year and was responsible for almost 14,000 deaths. Striking only when a person is seated behind the steering wheel of an automobile, this disease is called "acceleritis."

Its symptoms are a heavy foot and a light head, a combination which usually results in insane speed. The virus of this disease attacks the mind and destroys the habits of courtesy and caution.

Excessive speed - "acceleritis" - is regarded as the greatest single cause of traffic accidents and deaths.

Although no known vaccine has been developed to combat this mental sickness, preventive medicine measures can be applied to young persons through high school courses in proper driving. In the case of incurables, a driver's license can be taken away in order to remove an individual as a highway menace.

And as for the rest of us . . . we must see to it that we always drive at a speed suitable to the conditions of traffic and weather.

To end the modern sickness of "acceleritis," the best available remedy is simply to slow down so that you and others may live.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

The Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952, otherwise known as the Korean GI Bill, permits eligible veterans with active service anywhere in the world since June 27, 1950, the start of Korean hostilities, to receive education or training at government expense.

Eligibility requirements include (1) active military or naval service at any time between June 27, 1950 and a date yet to be established either by Presidential Proclamation or by a concurrent resolution of Congress; (2) at least 90 days of total service, or a discharge for disability incurred on active duty if the service was for less than 90 days; (3) a discharge under other than dishonorable conditions. All three conditions must be met.

Eligible veterans may get a course of training not to exceed 36 months, at the rate of 1½ days training for each day of service after June 27, 1950, regardless of where the service was performed.

However, veterans with both World War II service and service since June 27, 1950, who have previously trained under earlier veterans' training laws (the World War II GI Bill, Public Law 16 or Public Law 894) compute their entitlement to Korean GI Bill tralining by subtracting their earlier training from 48 months. The difference, however, may not exceed 36 months.

Eligible veterans may choose their own course of training in any school or establishment approved by an appropriate State Approving Agency that meets other qualifications of the law. Veterans may (1) enroll in schools or colleges; (2) take apprenticeship or other training on-the-job; (3) enroll in institutional on-farm training or other programs which combine school with job training, or (4) select correspondence school courses.

Veterans receive an education and training allowance each month from the government to meet part of the expenses of their training and living costs. Tuition, fees, books supplies and equipment are not paid by the government; instead, they have to be paid by the veterans with the help of the monthly allowance they receive from the government.

FALL TOP-DRESSING BOOSTS SPRING YIELDS IN OLD DOMINION

For top pastures top-dress in the fall, say agronomists at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Pastures are your cheapest source of feed and they'll give high yields of high quality herbage if they're fed. Applying fertilizer in the fall insures increased growth, decimates winter-killing damage, and produces plants better able to make vigorous growth in the spring.

Good pastures use a lot of plant food; what is removed must be replaced. Yields are often low because of a lack of sufficient quantities of nutrients and a lack of a balanced "diet." In the same way that animals need to be started off right, so do crops to reach their peak production.

In the fall, pastures need an extra "shot in the arm" to build up sufficient strength to last them through the winter months in good shape.

VPI crop experts recommend that for a half and half legume-grass mixture an acre should get 500 to 800 pounds of 0-14-14 or 2-12-12 fertilizer in the late fall or early winter. Closely grazed pastures and those in which earlier grazing is desired should receive the same amount of 5-10-10.

If the grass is thinning out, topdress in winter with 500 to 800 pounds of 5-10-10 letting the grass grow to a foot before grazing or cutting. If the clover is thinning out top-dress in late fall or early winter with the same quantities of phosphate and potash fertilizers.

For orchard grass - lespedeza mixtures in the Coastal Plains area, late fall, winter, or early spring applications of 5-10-10 or 4-12-8 fertilizer are recommended at 400 to 600 pounds per acre. In the Piedmont area rates should be boosted to 1000 pounds per acre.

Top-dressings of 500 to 1,000 pounds of 5-10-10, 4-12-8, or 4-16-8 should be used on blue grass - white clover pastures for best results. Lower rates apply to thin clover stands; the higher extremes to poor stands of both clover and grass. Maintenance of good stands of both clover and grass requires 1000 to 1200 pounds of 0-14-7 or 0-14-14 per acre every three or five years.

The National Fertilizer Association advises farmers to apply fertilizer in the fall not only for agronomic reasons but also from the standpoint of selection. There's a better chance of getting the exact kinds of plant foods you need when you buy in the fall. Manufacturers start to stockpile fertilizers as soon as their spring rush is past. Bu autumn there's a good supply on hand and delivery usually is faster.

V. P. I. agronomists also point out that pastures recover faster from drought when they are well fertilized in the fall. With the right amounts of nutrients at hand, strong healthy root systems develop and allow the plants to take up water from a greater depth.

SPECIAL BOW HUNTING SEASON ON DEER AT HOG ISLAND

Executive Director I. T. Quinn of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries has announced that there will be a special deer hunting season on Hog Island State Waterfowl Refuge for hunters using bow and arrow only during the weeks of October 4—October 9, October 23, and November 1—November 6, all dates inclusive. Hunting hours will be from one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset.

Bows must have a minimum pull of 45 pounds and arrows must be sharp broadhead of 7/8 inch minimum width. Cross-bows and poison arrows are not legal. No hunting of any other species of bird or animal game or non-game, will be allowed.

Hunting will be by special permit only. Application blanks and full details on hunting and camping facilities may be secured by writing the Richmond office of the Commission and applications must be returned by September 10, 1952.

A valid state, county or non-resident hunting license plus a big game stamp (except for county residents) is required. Between 50 and 70 hunters will be allowed on the area each day. No one may hunt more than six days during the season.

WRESTLING TONIGHT IN LYNCHBURG

Lynchburg.- If Charro Aztec, the high-riding Mexican cowpuncher, is headed for a fall, there's a very excellent chance that it will come tonight at Lynchburg's City Armory when he goes against Bobby Becker, the taller of the two fair-haired boys from Brooklyn, N. Y.

Aztec, one of the most unpopular men to wrestle in the Lynchburg ring, has used a series of illegal holds and tactics to carry him through a half-dozen triumphs in Lynchburg, two in a row during the last two weeks. Last week he topped Ace Freeman in a co-featured match and the week before he emergd on top in a six-man wrestle royal.

Brother George Becker also will be on hand to take part in the second co-featured match, both of which will be two of three fall affairs. He'll go against Firpo Zbyszko, the bald-headed Pole with the handle bar mustache.

Al Cortez will make his debut in a bout with Herb Schiff.

VEPCO NAMES OFFICERS

The Board of Directors of the Virginia Electric and Power Company elected M. S. Smith executive vice-president and Erwin H. Hill vice-president and general manager of the company at a meeting recently held, Mr. Smith will fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Mr. W. E. Wood, and Mr. Hill takes over the position formerly held by Mr. Smith.

A graduate of the University of Maine in electrical engineering, Mr. Smith entered the public utility business with the Cape Breton Electric Company at Sydney, Nova Scotia, in 1912 and had worked his way up to purchasing agent and assistant to the superintendent of the Electric department when, in 1915, he was made superintndent of light and power for that company. In 1917 he became manager of the Brockton and Plymouth Street Railway Company, Plymouth, Mass. He was later transferred to the Lowell (Mass.) Electric Light Corporation as superintendent of production, where he remained until 1921 when he was appointed superintendent of the Light and Power department of the Nova Scotia Tramways and Power Company at Halifax. Mr. Smith returned to Sydney as manager in 1923, and three years later was transferred to Baton Rouge, La., as president of the Baton Rouge Electric Company. From 1931 to 1936 he was president of the El Paso Electric Company, leaving there to become vice-president of Vepco in Richmond. He was elected vice-president and general manager of Vepco in 1950.
